Location & Transport

Fort William is the start of the Road to the Isles and the capital of Lochaber. This part of Scotland has some of the most majestic scenery in the country. Its deep lochs, dramatic mountains and beautiful glens have been seen around the world in movies such as Rob Roy and Braveheart.

Mansefield House is situated in the quiet suburb of Corpach, just 4 miles outside of Fort William. We are only 5 minutes walk from the start of the Caledonian Canal, Great Glen Cycle Route and Corpach railway station (where trains operate to Mallaig on the famous and scenic West Highland Line).

Corpach sits on the northern shore of Loch Linnhe, in the shadow of Ben Nevis (Britain's highest mountain at 4406 feet). The village name comes from the Gaelic meaning 'place of the bodies' as ancient funeral parties rested here when taking the bodies of kings and princes for burial on the Isle of Iona.

Fort William is easily accessible by car or public transport. It is approximately 2.5 - 3 hours drive from Glasgow and 1.5 - 2 hours from Inverness.

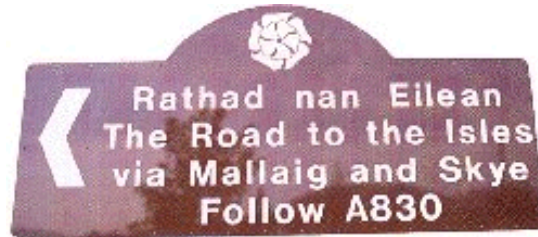

Directions by Road

From the South

Take the A82 out of Fort William towards Inverness. About 2 miles from the town centre you will come to a T junction with the Ben Nevis distillery on your right and a BP filling station on your left. Turn left at this junction onto the A830 The Road to the Isles....

From the North

You will be on the A82 heading south. Just after the town sign and before entering Fort William you come to a T junction with the Ben Nevis distillery on your left and a BP filling station on your right. Turn right at this junction onto the A830 The Road to the Isles....

.... Approximately two miles along this road you will come the village sign of Corpach. We are about 400 yards past this sign on the left hand side on the corner of Hillview Drive (If you reach the shops in the village centre then you have gone too far).

From the West (Mallaig)

You will be on the A830 heading east. On reaching Corpach stay on the A830 and travel into the village centre, we are located about 400 yards past the shops, on the right hand side, on the corner of Hillview Drive.

By Air

The four most popular international airports in Scotland are Edinburgh, Glasgow, Prestwick and Inverness. Car hire and coach connections are available at all of these and rail services are available from Glasgow and Edinburgh.

By Rail

Daily services from England (change at Glasgow Queen Street station) operate on the West Highland line to Fort William and onto Mallaig. Leave the train at Corpach station which is the second stop after Fort William. Mansefield is just five minutes walk away. At the top of the road turn right onto the A830 we are about 400 yards away on the right hand side. (Let us know if you require a lift with luggage.)

By Sea

Sail into Corpach Canal basin either from the north down the Caledonian canal or from the south via Loch Linnhe. Mansefield is just five minutes walk away. At the top of the road turn right onto the A830 we are about four hundred yards away on the right hand side. (Let us know if you require a lift with luggage.)
